Matsumoto Castle

Nicknamed as the “Crow Castle” because of its black exterior, Matsumoto Castle is one of only 12 remaining original castles in all of Japan. Samurai housing was erected steadily around the castle between 1590 and 1613, but the town area did not come into being until the era of the Mizuno clan between 1642 and 1725. A large section of samurai housing was built in the north, and merchant housing and shops emerged to the east and south.

Afternoon we will continue to visit Narai Juku, a historic post town located in the Kiso Valley of Nagano Prefecture, Japan.

It was an important stop on the Nakasendo highway connecting Kyoto and Tokyo during the Edo period (1603-1868). Today, Narai Juku retains much of its original Edo-era architecture and atmosphere, making it a popular tourist destination for those interested in traditional Japan.

Late afternoon we will check in the hotel in Nagoya City Center for 2 consecutive nights.

The main keep's structure is built almost entirely with wood and rocks, and its interior is beautifully preserved and retains an authentic feel without modern additions that reconstructed castles often include. A conserved feature are the steep stairs, which visitors can scale up four stories to get to the top level and be rewarded with panoramic views over the castle grounds and Kiso River. It is also interesting to view the various chambers in the keep, including a lookout that was used to watch for approaching enemies and a room with holes that stones could be thrown down during times of enemy invasion.

NAGOYA – KYOTO (09:00~18:00)

Check out hotel in Nagoya, we will have a road trip in approximately two hours to Kyoto City which is considered as the cultural center of Japan, containing the most famous Buddhist and Shinto temples, palaces and gardens in the country.

We will firstly make a stop at Seiryuden Observatory Deck for a spectacular Kyoto city view. According to legend, Seiryuden Temple - perched upon Mt. Higashiyama in eastern Kyoto, is where the story of this ancient city began. With the completion of the sprawling observation deck in 2015, this relatively unknown spot offers unrivaled panoramic views. It is no surprise that Emperor Kammu came to this very location in the mid-eighth century to inspect the site for his proposed new capital. Satisfied by what he saw, Kammu ordered Kyoto's construction in 794.

Seiryuden Observation Deck

Ninenzaka

Kiyomizu Temple

We will start our walking tour in Higashiyama District with the visit to Yasaka Shrine. Once called Gion Shrine, it is a Shinto shrine in the Gion District of Kyoto which is situated at the east end of Shijō-dōri Street. Yasaka Shrine is well known for its summer festival, the Gion Matsuri, which is celebrated every July. Arguably the most famous festival in the whole country, the Gion Matsuri dates back over a thousand years and involves a procession with massive floats and hundreds of participants. Passing through the Yasaka shrine, you will meet beautiful stone pavement which is called "Nenenomichi". Walking south on Nene no Michi, you will ultimately arrive at the charming stone-paved paths Ninenzaka and Sannenzaka. These are narrow sloped streets that have tasteful shops filled with Japanese goods. If you continue up to the top, the street comes to the path that leads to Kiyomizu Temple, the most visited temple in Kyoto.

Kiyomizudera (literally "Pure Water Temple") is one of the most celebrated temples of Japan. It was founded in 780 on the site of the Otowa Waterfall in the wooded hills east of Kyoto and derives its name from the fall's pure waters. The temple was originally associated with the Hosso sect, one of the oldest schools within Japanese Buddhism, but formed its own Kita Hosso sect in 1965. In 1994, the temple was added to the list of UNESCO world heritage sites.

Late afternoon check in the hotel and free at leisure for your individual activities.

KYOTO / Full day Kyoto - Uji city guided tour by private coach(09:00~17:00)

Big Torii Gate & Romon at Fushimi Inari Shrine

At a scheduled time, we will head to the southern part of Kyoto City to visit the city's most famous attraction - Fushimi Inari Taisha Shrine. It is famous for its thousands of vermilion torii gates, which straddle a network of trails behind its main buildings. The trails lead into the wooded forest of the sacred Mount Inari, which stands at 233 meters and belongs to the shrine grounds. Fushimi Inari is the most important of several thousands of shrines dedicated to Inari, the Shinto god of rice. The hike to the summit of the mountain and back takes about 3 hours, however, you are free to walk just as far as you wish before turning back.

Also famous for its sake, Fushimi District is one of the largest and most well-regarded sake-brewing districts in Japan. This is thanks largely to the good supply of clean underground spring water in the area, which is essential for making good sake. We will have a chance to visit Gekkeikan Okura Sake Museum to learn about the Fushimi Sake District and Gekkeikan, the brewing company that runs the museum. The museum has exhibits on the sake brewing process, the history of the Gekkeikan company, and sake brewing tools and equipment, among other things.

Vermilion Torii Gates

Afternoon will a trip to Uji City - a small city situated between Kyoto and Nara that is well known for its tea fields, tea shops and the sacred sites. Byodo-in Temple is one of two World Heritage locations in Uji and rightly famous for its spectacular Phoenix Hall or "Hou-ou-do". If you happen to have a Japanese 10-yen coin, look on the front of the coin and you'll see Byodoin Temple's famous Hou-ou-do Hall. This building is one of the country's most well-known examples of Buddhist architecture and the only original structure of the Byodoin Temple complex that remains today.
